

CELEBRATING ITALIAN UNITY.

A GRAND PARADE AND PICNIC IN THIS CITY IN MEMORY OF THE ENTRY INTO ROME.

The Italians resident in this city yesterday celebrated Victor Emanuel's entry into Rome and the unification of Italy. The feature of the celebration was a parade of the different Italian societies, which formed about 10 o'clock at Washington Square. The veterans of the Italian wars placed a wreath upon the statue of Garibaldi. Dr. N. Fanoni was the marshal of the parade, and there were about sixty societies, numbering 1,300 men, in line. They were on foot, mounted and in carriages. The parade proceeded up Fifth-ave., to Fifty-ninth-st., where the procession disbanded, and the paraders went to Sulzer's Harlem River Park and held a festival.

Inspector Cortright and Acting Inspector O'Keefe and Harley, with several hundred policemen, kept the line of the parade clear. Hundreds of people had gathered along the route, and the marchers were warmly applauded. Several thousand people assembled at the corner of Fifty-ninth-st. and Eighth-ave., where a reviewing stand was erected, facing the Columbus statue. There the parade was reviewed by Mayor Strong and the leading officers of the united Italian societies. The big crowd cheered heartily as the marchers paraded past the stand, and the enthusiasm reached a climax when, after Grand Marshal Dr. N. Fanoni saluted and shouted "Viva Italia," four young girls attired in white and seated in an open carriage, bombarded the Mayor with bouquets. With the Mayor on the stand were Count Naselli, the Italian Consul; the Portuguese and Venezuelan Consuls and the leading Italians of the city.

The Mayor expressed himself as delighted with the parade, the order of which was as follows:

Plato of Mount Palus.

Italian Whistmen's Club.

Grand Marshal Dr. N. Fanoni and mounted staff.

Committee of Christopher Columbus Statue in carriage.

THE GRAND JURY ASKS FOR MERCY FOR THE BARON'S SON WHO STOLE.

Joseph B. von Rabenbeck, who says he is the fourth son of the Baron von Rabenbeck, of Coblenz, Germany, was permitted to plead guilty to petit larceny before Judge Fitzgerald in Part I. General Sessions, yesterday.

He was arrested on August 23 for snatching a pocket containing $2 from a woman's hand at Church and Vieey st. The Grand Jury indicted him for grand larceny on the facts presented, but took an interest in the young man, who told a pitiful story of temptation by poverty, and requested the Judge to accept a plea for petit larceny—a rare step in criminal court procedure.

Assistant District Attorney Battle, who had also taken an interest in the young man's experience, asked Judge Fitzgerald to suspend sentence, stating that he had secured employment for him. The Judge said he would put the case over until Thursday to investigate it.

Joseph's father and two brothers are said to be officers in the German Army. Joseph had worked as a bartender in this city, but lost his place.

THE BULLET FINALLY KILLED HIM.

AFTER LIVING FOR MORE THAN TWO YEARS WITH IT IN HIS MOUTH, McCABE DIED WHEN IT WAS EXTRACTED.

After living for more than two years and a half with a bullet in his mouth, James McCabe, a young laborer, died last night in the New-York Hospital after the bullet had been removed a few days before. McCabe was a laborer, and lived at No. 28 East One-hundred-and-twenty-eighth. He was twenty-seven years old and unmarried. In January, 1894, according to the record of the case obtainable at the New-York Hospital, McCabe was accidentally shot in the mouth by an acquaintance. He was removed to the Presbyterian Hospital, where he was kept some time as a patient and finally discharged without the bullet being removed. Recently an abscess formed in his mouth, resulting from the presence of the bullet. On August 31 last the suffering man applied for treatment at the New-York Hospital and was admitted there as a patient. The doctors extracted the long-buried bullet, but failed to conquer the abscess, and death was the result.
